REMARKS COMIC AND GRAVE

FACETIOUS.

An amateur scientist sends us a long article written with a purple pencil on both sides of twelve sheets of legal cap, and entitled, "Poisons and their anecdotes." Will the soft-eyed mullet-head please call and get it, also a lick over the eye with a hot stove leg, and greatly oblige the weary, throbbing brain that moulds the scientific course of this paper?—Laramie Boomerang.

"What the country needs," bawled a political orator, as he placed one hand melodramatically between his coat tails and pointed toward the constellation of Perseus with the other, "what this country needs"—he continued vaguely, as in the admiration of his attitude he lost the skein of his thought—"what this country needs—is—is—is fewer men and more of hem." And then he sat down amid a tumult that sounded more like laughter than it did like applause, and pondered over his last remark till his feet hurt him.—Springfield News.

Two men applied for the position of traveling salesman. The merchant seemed to be pleased with both gentlemen, and was at a loss to decide. "Have you traveled much in Arkansaw, Mr. Hickle?" "Yes, sir," answered that gentleman, "more than any man now in the country." "No, you haven't," exclaimed Blumple, the other applicant. Hickle insisted and finally Blumple turned to the merchant and said: "This man Hickle is the biggest liar I ever saw." "There," exclaimed the merchant, "I want him. Mr. Hickle, you may start out to-morrow morning."—Arkansaw Traveler.

Young Glucky, of the Union Club, had been up Marin County shooting for a week, when he received a dispatch calling him home. "My dear boy," said his partner, taking him aside; "have you the courage to bear up under a terrible blow?" "W-w-hat is it?" gasped Glucky. "Your wife has eloped." "Great Scott!" said the deserted husband; "with whom?" "With your tailor." "You don't say so," replied the bereaved man, with a beaming smile; "why, I owed him six hundred dollars. What'll you take?" Heaven does indeed temper the wind to the shorn lamb.—San Francisco Post.

"Do you know 'When the Leaves Begin to Fall'?" she asked, idly turning her music, while Reginald stood at the end of the piano. "Why, yes," said Reginald thoughtfully, "generally along in the first two weeks of October. It depends somewhat on the weather." Her eyes glittered with a revengeful light, and she sang "Sweet Home" for him in the poorest kind of German and made him believe it was the "Mermaid's Song," from "Traviata." (We are not quite certain that there is a "Mermaid's Song" in "Traviata," and we have a few misgivings as to the spelling of "Traviata," but when it comes to winding up a musical paragraph with a confident, high art, Arabesque frieze and Gothic dado ease and euphonious resonance, we occupy a chair in the orchestra circle, clear should howl to holler.)—Burlington Hawkeye.

A St. Louis preacher, never having tasted whiskey, bought half a gallon of it to study its effects, in order the better to describe them in the temperance sermon he was preparing. To avoid publicity and accidents, he locked himself in his study and threw the key out of the window. In less than an hour he was singing and dancing, instead of writing; about four o'clock in the afternoon he climbed out of his window and slid down the lightning rod, fell into a swill-barrel, kissed a woman in the street, got licked by two men at different times, broke a window, stole a dog, sassed a policeman and got run in. The judge socked it to him most awfully—thirty days; but his church forgave him and took him back on his solemnly promising that he would hereafter discuss the temperance question from a purely theoretical standpoint.—Burlington Hawkeye.

At Terre Haute, Ind., an ingenious tramp, thinking to wring tears and money assistance from the stoniest hearts with a new scheme, gave it an experimental trial in the North End. He has decided not to patent the invention. He told a North End lady of his unfortunate condition, and asked if he might eat some of the grass in the yard. The lady, no less amused than surprised, said: "Certainly." He went out, and getting down on all fours, commenced at the grass after the neglected and never popular fashion of Nebuchadnezzar, and apparently not enjoying the diet any more than that ancient sinner of olden time. Presently the tramp's anxious eye caught sight of the servant-girl beckoning to him from the back yard. He thought a rich reward for his humility was in store and instantly responded: "Did you motion to me?" said he. "Yes." "What do you want?" He now wore a look of hopeful expectancy. "You may go in the back yard if you want to. The grass is taller there."

WANTED.

An old fellow who has had his wig stolen several times has come to the conclusion that there is no rest for the wigged.—Baltimore Every Saturday.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on the face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from "torpid liver," or "biliousness." In many cases of "liver complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures. At all drug stores.

Carriage Manufacturer,
Cor. Plum and 12th Sts.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

This firm is now in its sixth year of existence, and the rapid and permanent growth it has made is something unprecedented in the history of carriage building. Its permanancy and growth have been accomplished, not by any special effort at "drumming" the trade, but by the excellency of the work produced, and by the low price at which this work has been sold. Another great feature of its success is in the STYLE of the work produced. It is too often the case that in low priced work the style is correspondingly low or common in appearance. But all goods manufactured by T. T. Haydock, are made in a stylish and artistic manner, thus adding beauty to quality. This firm does not build the lowest grade, nor the lowest priced work in the market by any means, but is making a specialty of a medium grade full leather top buggy at a very low price for the quality; and is offering special inducements to the trade to buy in large quantities.
